

Marianne DeMarco, M.S., M.A., has been performing outstanding work as a member of an outstanding team at the NYCOM Academic Technologies group. In addition to her technical and people skills, Ms. DeMarco's organized approach has enabled her to assume a significant project planning and coordination role within the ATG. She does whatever detailed tasks need to be done day in and day out, in order to keep the various NYCOM technology projects moving forward. Ms. DeMarco received her B.S. degree in Education and Mathematics from St. John's University; and her M.S. degree in Instructional Technology and M.A. degree in Digital Media from NYIT. She received the Dean's Award for Excellence in 2008. A well liked, much respected, and much valued member of a great team, it is appropriate that we recognize Ms. DeMarco's achievements, efforts, ability, and attitude with a NYCOM Standard of Excellence award.

Diane Fakh, A.A., has provided an invaluable level of service in support of the dean's office since 2001, bridging three administrations during that time span. She has exceeded expectations for every responsibility in that capacity and has earned the respect of her peers, the faculty, and the administrators with whom she works. Her tireless efforts to successfully coordinate various functions and her ability to orchestrate the activities of the office is exemplary. Ms. Fakh's dedication to the college and unwavering commitment to providing the highest level of service is unmatched, and exemplifies the Standard of Excellence.
